TO BOOST CITY AS
WHOLESALE MART

Bureau of Chamber of Commerce in First Session Plans Trade.

The first step towards boosting South Bend as a wholesale market was taken last night when the wholesale bureau of the South Bend Chamber of Commerce held a social session at the Nicholson inn. The meeting was primarily a "get together" affair in order to get local wholesalers acquainted with each other before more serious work was attempted. It was decided last night to formally organize at the next meeting of the bureau, which will be held next Thursday evening at the Nicholson inn.

It was urged that South Bend should be better represented as a wholesale center on the commercial map and a campaign was outlined in order to bring this about. It was reported that there be consistent cooperation between the wholesalers themselves, and also between the salesmen representing the different firms on the road. It is believed that a little mutual assistance will go a long way towards increasing South Bend's trade and prominence.

Many of the larger wholesale houses of the city were represented at the meeting last night and many others promised to join hands with the bureau at the next meeting. Among those present at the meeting last night, all of whom expressed themselves as in entire accord with the bureau's aim, were A. E. Feltz and J. N. Jacobson of Jacobson, Peterson, Peltz and Kauffer; William H. Swintz of the National Grocer Co.; George M. Platner of Schafer and Platner; Charles G. Beltz of the Indiana Engraving Co.; John I. Schaffer of the C. C. Schafer Lumber Co.; F. W. Long of the South Bend Supply Co.; George Rutzbach of the Schuler-Klingbe Co., and Albert J. Weigle of the South Bend Chamber of Commerce.

MAKE FINAL REVIEW OF PAGEANT MANUSCRIPT

Catchy Music and Songs Being Written for Celebration by Director Roney.

Final review of the manuscript of the St. Joseph County Historical pageant, prepared by Mrs. W. K. Lamport and her committee and turned over the executive committee, was begun by that committee at a meeting held Thursday afternoon. The meeting was held in the office of Pageant Director Roney at the Chamber of Commerce. Owing to prolonged discussions of various scenes the reading was not completed yesterday and will be continued at a second meeting to be held at 4:15 this afternoon.

Mr. Roney has written some exceedingly catchy music for several original songs which will come in as a distinctive part of the St. Joseph county celebration. Perhaps one of the most delightful of those which were brought in in the part gone over yesterday was the comic little ballad to be sung by South Bend's first woman's club, the members of which, in neglecting their home duties to attend fortnightly meetings, defied all the conventions of their day. The words to the song were written by Mrs. Emma B. Harris, South Bend's "story lady," who so delightfully relates the tale of the formation of the club. Another delightful refrain is that to be sung by Johnny Appleseed, the words for which were written by Rev. Father O'Donnell of Notre Dame.

This afternoon's meeting will probably be important as it is the hope of the committee to be able definitely to assign certain scenes in the pageant to organizations which have volunteered to stage a part. After that will come the assignment of character parts.

High School
Graduates Get
Diplomas Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock the graduating class at the high school invites all of its friends to attend the final exercises of the class of 1916.

Saturday morning at 9 o'clock the graduating class will assemble for the last time as an undergraduate class at the South Bend high school. The exercises with which this scholastic year will be closed are to be unique in the history of the local school. The whole program will be rendered by the more talented members of the class. No foreign talent is to participate in any way in the final celebration, since this class is jealous of bestowing the honor of God-speeding what has been called the greatest class in the history of South Bend's school on its way to conquer life.

Miss Edith Emmons and Franklin Schurtz will be the valedictorians of the class. Not satisfied with one, the superclass of 1916 insists that it shall have both a boy and a girl to wish it well. These two stellar students just fell short of absolute perfection in their grades. Both scored 498 out of a possible 500. Rather than draw any fine distinction between the two, both have been asked to serve as valedictorians. Miss Nellie Robbins, who achieved the average of 487, will be the class salutatorian.

Carl Prell, president, who has succeeded so admirably in leading the class for two and one-half years, will deliver the farewell address to his 157 classmates.

At the final assembly on Saturday morning all the monograms, prizes, medals, honors and all distinctions won during the year will be distributed. Mr. Sims will officiate and distribute the final grade cards.

PERFECT BABY WANTS ALL
TO KNOW SHE IS POLISH

Her Name is Dorothy Kuczmanski. While Kutchman is the English Pronunciation.

Although South Bend's first prize baby was duly registered as Dorothy Kutchman, she, through her parents, desires to announce that that merely spells the English pronunciation of her name. She wishes to have the spelling changed, so that her nationality will not be obscured. Little Miss Dorothy is Polish and by all that is right and proper, her race should have the honor of claiming her. Her real name, therefore, is Dorothy Kuczmanski. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kuczmanski of 1512 Poland st.
